What is a book talk?

They are a way of recommending a book for someone else to read.

Almost like a mixture of a commercial and a book report.

They are short. (Around 1 to 2 minutes long)

They try to get the viewer interested in a book.

They give important information about the story without spoiling the book.

Key details

Have a hook or a way to get your attention very quickly in the video.

Make sure to share the title, author, and genre of the book.

Show the book cover.

Share exciting details of the book to convince others to read it.

You don't always have to be on camera.

No one does a book talk perfectly the first time. (Practice and reshoot if necessary)

Book talk Success Criteria

Introduction: End an interesting, exciting, or mysterious quote to start off your presentation. This quote will get the reader's attention. Don't just pick any old quote - choose carefully and deliberately to try to capture the attention of the audience. Also explain why you chose the quote. Clearly introduce your book by giving the name and author of the book.

Main Body: The middle of the presentation will cover the setting, characters, and plot of the book without giving too much away of the story. Tell a little about the book is so, what kind of action or conflict is involved in the book, and what is about to happen. But if you can maintain the theme of the novel. Under no circumstances should you give away the ending of the novel. Do not just list the characters and the setting and don't give a short summary of the book.

Resolution: Without giving away the ending, convince the reader that you loved this book and that this is the book they want to read next. Make some predictions which indicate to the class would enjoy the book.
